“As Phoenix continues to wrestle with complicated and challenging issues like transportation, crime, air quality, education and economic development, the city needs the exceptional leadership provided by Greg Stanton,” said Brett Jones, vice president of operations for the Arizona Contractors Association.

“The construction industry has been devastated by this recession and our organization feels that Greg Stanton is the best candidate that offers Phoenix an opportunity for economic recovery and job growth.” “Greg Stanton understands our industry’s issues and can offer solutions to our problems,” said Jones.

“Phoenix voters have a number of very qualified and capable candidates running for city council. Our city council endorsements reflect that excellence,” Jones said.

ACA’s Past Chairman Rod Luker says “we are proud to have one of our own running for city council. It shows the community our organizations commitment to advancing Phoenix and Arizona.”-- Referring to David Jones who is the President/CEO of the Arizona Contractors Association.

Phoenix voters go to the polls on August 30, 2011 to elect the mayor and council members in Districts 1, 2, 3, and 5.
